SERVIA AND BULGARIA COME TO TERMS; CZAR FERDINAND PREPARES HIS ARMY

CZAR FERDINAND AND BULGARIAN INFANTRYMEN

Servia having acceded to the demands of the allies for the cession of certain Macedonian territory to Bulgaria, according to dispatches from Rome and Athens, Bulgaria's entrance into the war on the side of the allies, which has been delayed pending the conclusion of these negotiations, it is expected will be announced shortly. The Sofia correspondent of the Giornale d'Italia of Rome said that the terms agreed upon give to Bulgaria that part of Macedonia which she received under the Serbo-Bulgarian treaty of 1913, Bulgaria consenting to the giving to Servia of the city of Kavala and the districts of Kavala and Treas. The illustration shows a group of Bulgarian infantrymen with an inset of Czar Ferdinand, the Bulgarian ruler.

NAVAL EFFICIENCY.

The situation that has developed between this country and Germany is causing each day a closer scrutiny of the question of naval power.

The opposition to an increase of the navy would be greatly diminished, could our people feel confident that the money was economically spent. If the taxpayer is convinced that a fixed proportion of navy money is always wasted, he gives up the additional sum for a new battleship with very ill grace.

It is generally admitted that the United States has too many navy yards, that duplicate plants are being maintained where a smaller number would do the work at far less cost. Yet if a man should get up in Congress next December, and move to abolish a yard in any given section, that proposal would be bitterly fought by every Congressman from that section. No one seems to look at the thing from a business point of view. Apparently the objection to abolishing useless navy yards is not so much the local demand for protection against a foreign foe. It is the feeling on the part of politicians that the business community that depends on the navy yards to sell supplies would resent the closing up of a yard. Butchers and grocers would have to go out of business if a yard were closed. That would mean the removal of families, the local Congressman would be blamed, and he would lose votes. The people are asking the question with force and emphasis, whether navy yards, coaling stations, and other equipment are maintained for the sake of an efficient fighting force, or to help politicians get re-elected. During the past 14 years the United States spent $1,555,000,000 on its navy. Germany spent during the same period but $1,137,000,000. Germany has by far the stronger fighting force, or it had until the fortunes of war depleted its fleet.

The people are getting more and more interested in navy efficiency. It will be a live issue at elections, which Congressmen should realize.

A protest will be sent by the United States to France against the detention of the steamship Solvay, recently transferred from Norwegian to American registry.

BRIEF NEWS NOTES.

"Rube" Benton, former Cincinnati pitcher, was awarded to the Giants by the Board of Directors of the National League.

The American bark Daisy Reed, from Mobile, arrived at Paloma, Argentina, in a leaking condition and short of supplies.

American soldiers pursued two bands of armed Mexicans who crossed the border near Fort Ringgold, into the interior of Texas.

Munition factories of Russia are expected to begin in a few weeks producing 200,000 shells daily, in addition to those imported.

The executive committee of the San Francisco Convention League launched a campaign to obtain the 1916 Republican National Convention for San Francisco.

Amusements

POLI'S

Poli's theatre, for the last half of the week, presents an unusually attractive program, with many diversified features in the vaudeville and picture bills. It is a program of exceptional merit throughout and was largely enjoyed by big audiences yesterday.

Rose and Moon, formerly stars of Winter Garden shows, won new laurels in their latest singing and dancing offering. Both the talented performers and their repertoire has just that "pep" that makes a vaudeville act. They were very warmly received.

Theda Bara, "the vampire woman," known to millions of film lovers is featured in the five-part photoplay "Lady Audley's Secret." The film is a masterpiece of the screen, a famous novel and it is very interesting from a dramatic viewpoint. In the big company supporting Theda Bara is seen Clifford Bruce, a former stock favorite here.

The Bush Brothers, the nautical acrobats, are funnier than ever in their acrobatic skit, "Ship Ahoy." They are always welcome on any bill and tonight they are no exception.

questions her and finds her father is very ill in a garret. Upon the father's death, Giles takes little Lola under his protecting care, has her educated and engages the besters to perfect her in the art of dancing.

Some years later the young king attends a performance where Lola is dancing, and becomes deeply infatuated with her charms.

A revolution is brewing among the poor people, who are heavily taxed for the benefit of the rich. Lola intercedes for them, and the king finally consents to listen to the pleadings of his favorite, and revokes the heavy taxes. This action creates the animosity of his courtiers and nobles, and they in turn plot to dethrone him. Lola, with the assistance of several friends is fully acquainted with their plots and plans, and decides to frustrate them.

She rides to the inn where the conspirators congregated, disguised as a little Dutch girl. There she is recognized and is compelled to cause for her life, but not until she has learned that the traitors have decided to kill the young king. Again disguising herself as a young soldier, she gains success to the castle of the Prime Minister, where King Louis is imprisoned, and succeeds in warning the sovereign of his danger. Some of her friends have roused the people to the danger threatening their king, and they march to the castle with the soldiers to battle against the revolutionary party. Enraged at the failure of his plotting, the Prime Minister realizes that Lola is the main cause of his downfall and they fight a duel in which Lola kills the traitor.

Disinayed at the death of their leader, the revolutionists are easily worsted, and the king, his people, and Lola are united amid general rejoicing.

FIRST NATIONAL CHEMICAL EXPOSITION.

New York, Aug. 26.—For the first time in the history of America, there will be given at Grand Central Palace beginning September 20, a public exposition of the work and products of the chemical industries of the United States. This country leads the world in essential raw materials, such as coal, petroleum, sulphur and iron and manufacturers and the public are becoming convinced that they are absolutely independent of foreign countries. This exposition will throw great light on the subject.

Not only will there be lectures and motion pictures every day explaining and showing the wonders of science but actual live exhibits and working models.

Chemists maintain that national defense is primarily dependent on chemical industries.

Among the interesting things that everyone can see and learn about at Grand Central Palace are the manufacture of aniline dyes, beads, hard rubber pyrometers, phenolic condensation and chlorine substitution products, vacuum drying, seamless one-piece products, bakelite, sulphur burners, quartz thermometers, filters, enamels, iron ware, acet-phenetidin, caffeine, chloral hydrate, saccharin, distilling, centrifugals, zinc, South American possibilities, X-rays, the manufacture of chocolate, dynamite, fertilizers, asphalt, explosives, gases and so on ad infinitum.

A seat on the New York Stock Exchange was sold for $12,000, a decline of $500 from the last sale.

The government of Peru has renewed payment of postal orders after suspension of many months.

Gee But 'Tis Hard Work!

M. B. ERLANGER, Manager

The P&Q sales-manager at New York wrote me that I'd have to "joke out" our ads, for a couple of weeks, while the ad-man was away on his vacation.

I'm not complaining, understand, 'cause I know very well that P&Q Clothes are the "Best Buy" in Bridgeport! at $10-and-$15. for striking style, excellent tailoring, and a fit supreme, P&Q Suits rank first. Better still, as the makers, we save you that worthwhile $5-to-$10.

Altho' this ad of mine may not convince you that it's best to "Renew In a P&Q" just remember that one good look at our Clothes will.
